TITLE I: REGULATED AREAS OF ACTIVITY

1.- Definition

Regulated areas of activity are those areas prepared by the station for the practice of one or several activities.

The station provides preparation and maintenance services for regulated areas, as well as security and rescue services for its users.

The station reserves the right to prohibit or restrict the practice of certain activities for safety reasons regarding property or people, health requirements, energy restrictions or other duly justified causes.

2.- Regulated areas in the winter season

2.1 Alpine skiing, ski area (See Annex 2.1):

It corresponds to the area of the station with the presence of lifts and, within which, practicing alpine skiing and other mountain activities authorized by the station, permits possible return by gravity to the base of the station or to another lift.

A regulated alpine ski area is one that consists only of slopes.

2.2 Freestyle ski area (See Annex 2.1):

It corresponds to the areas of the resort (Snowparks) prepared for freestyle practice.

2.3 Regulated itineraries

They are routes previously designated by the station for the practice of one or several activities, prepared and maintained by the station.

2.4 Areas of other activities (See Annex 3.1):

They correspond to areas of the station intended for mountain sports, leisure, tourism, adventure or other activities, as well as areas open to pedestrians.

2.5 Parking (See Annex 2.5):

They correspond to the areas of the station intended for vehicle parking.

3.- Regulated areas outside the winter season (See Annex 2.4)

Within these areas you can find:

Bike Park: See Title III, section 4

MTB circuits: comprised of the set of routes marked and maintained in the proper conditions and prepared exclusively for the practice of mountain biking, and other authorized activities for that area. You will only be able to circulate on the routes previously designated by the station and only for those activities that are specifically indicated.

Hiking routes: comprised of marked routes adapted for the practice of this activity. Users are required to bring the appropriate material to practice the activity and inform themselves in advance of weather and terrain conditions.

Leisure activities area: space for practicing adventure sports, both for children and adults.

4.- Unregulated areas of activity

It includes the entire scope of the domain that is not constituted, in any period, as a regulated area of activity in accordance with this regulation.

The station does not necessarily carry out conditioning, protection or other type of indicating actions in this area. Security or rescue service from the station is not guaranteed. Its use is at the sole risk of the users.

Included in this area are off-piste areas, which are those located between slopes or on the edge of a slope, as well as freeride itineraries and other circuits not designated by the resort. The existence of any signage or protection measure at the start or during the tour does not exclude its character as an unregulated area.

TITLE II. SPECIFIC CONDITIONS FOR PRACTICING SKIING

Ski activities carried out in regulated areas are subject to the conditions of practice determined by the law in general, as well as these internal regulations in particular.

1.- Alpine skiing

1.1. The practice of alpine skiing will be carried out on slopes which are classified by difficulty criteria as follows:

- Very easy ski slopes, or for beginners: marked in green.

1.2. The station daily selects and plans the slopes that will be conditioned and prepared based on weather and snowfall conditions. The classification of the slopes is carried out on the basis of topographic criteria, so the skier must take into account that weather or the snow condition may increase the level of difficulty.

For children under 12 years of age, the use of a helmet is mandatory and other safety gear are recommended.

2.- Freestyle skiing

The practice of freestyle entails certain risks and proper use of the obstacle courses and trails is required.

Specific safety rules in a freestyle space:

- Do not enter an unknown trail/course. Carry out prior inspection of the trail/course to adapt to its use.
- Only use the trail/course adapted to each technical level.
- Assess the impulse
- Do not try to do risky maneuvers that exceed the user's technical level.
- Do warm-up exercises before the first jump.
- Check that the landing area is clear before starting.
- If there are several people who want to try an obstacle course, the starting times will be announced in advance and coordinated between the users.
- Do not stop in the flyover area, the landing area or along the route.
- In case of a fall, evacuate the area quickly.
- Never go up the slope, even if you have lost a part of your gear. Ask another user coming down the slope to bring the gear closer to you.
- Never pass through a trail or an obstacle course and proceed with caution at all times.
- The use of a helmet and other protective gear is highly recommended.
- In the event of an accident, block the trail or obstacle course and immediately notify the emergency service.
- Access to the Freestyle zone is prohibited, except for taking photographs, and you must remain off the slopes at all times.
